

Index caps, index spreads and participation rates as of April 8, 2022

For Symetra Accumulator Ascent IUL Indexed Universal Life Insurance

Allocations to the index strategies will be credited with interest based on the performance of the selected indexes, subject to their index cap, index spread, index floor and participation rate. The index cap sets limits on the maximum potential interest earned over the index segment term while the participation rate establishes how much of the indexes' performance you will be credited (if any). The index spread sets a minimum performance threshold above which the index must perform and credits the interest (if any) above the threshold. All strategies have an index floor to ensure that, if the selected index has negative index performance during its segment term, your index interest crediting rate will not be less than zero.

Current index caps, index spreads, participation rates, and index floors are subject to change without notice.

Symetra AI Strategies utilize the Chicago Board Options Exchange Volatility Index (VIX®) to determine how your funds will be allocated. Two business days prior to the next monthly allocation date, if the VIX value is below 16, your funds will be allocated to the uncapped S&P 500® Index account; if the VIX is 16 or above, your funds will be allocated to the uncapped JPMorgan ETF Efficiente® 5 Index account. Once your funds have been allocated to either the 1-year or 2-year uncapped S&P 500® Index account or uncapped JPMorgan ETF Efficiente® 5 Index account it will remain in that index until the segment matures and a new segment is created.

Symetra Accumulator Ascent IUL has fixed and indexed accounts. Interest credited to the indexed accounts is affected by the value of outside indexes. Values based on the performance of any index are not guaranteed. The policy does not directly participate in any outside investment or index.

Allocations to the fixed account or index strategies are based on the allocation instructions provided at time of application, and may be subsequently changed in writing by the policy owner. When allocations occur, an index segment for each respective index strategy is created. Each index segment has its own index crediting method, index value, index cap, index spread, index floor, index participation rate, index segment term, and index start and maturity date. The index caps, floors and participation rates after the initial index segment term may be higher or lower than the initial rates, but will never be less than the guaranteed minimums shown in the policy. The index spreads after the initial index segment term may be higher or lower than the initial spreads, but will never be higher than the guaranteed maximum shown in the policy.

An index segment represents the portion of the index account that credits interest based on a change in the indexes applicable to that index segment. Index credits are calculated and credited (if applicable) on the respective index segment's maturity date. Amounts withdrawn from the index account before the index segment's maturity date will not receive an index credit, if applicable, for that term.

The initial index cap, index spread, index floor and index participation rate are established on the allocation date. An index segment represents the portion of the index account that credits interest based on a change in the indexes applicable to that index segment. The index caps, spreads, floors and participation rates after the initial index term may be higher or lower than the initial, but will never be less than the guaranteed minimum shown in the policy.

The additional index credit rate (bonus rate) is used to determine the additional amount that will be applied to the policy value for allocating money to the Putnam Dynamic Low Volatility Excess Return Index with Bonus index segment. The additional index credit rate will vary upon each allocation (lower or higher), but the additional index credit rate will never be less than the guaranteed minimum additional index credit rate defined in your policy.

Except for the JPMorgan ETF Efficiente® 5 Index and the Putnam Dynamic Low Volatility Excess Return Index, the performance of an index does not include the payment or reinvestment of dividends in the calculation of its performance.

It is not possible to invest in an index.

Election of a Putnam Index Strategy does not guarantee a greater index credit for any other index segment term.

Election of a Symetra Allocation Index Strategy does not guarantee a greater index credit for any other index segment term.

When using the term "uncapped," we're referring to Symetra's internal crediting rate cap. Other charges, such as policy, rider and any applicable index strategy charges, may impact the index segment value and result in a lower index credit value.

Symetra reserves the right to add, modify or remove any index strategy or indexed interest crediting method. If any index is discontinued or if the calculation of any index is changed substantially, Symetra reserves the right to substitute a comparable index.
